

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

An optical pickup used to record information on and/or reproduce information from an optical recording medium, the optical pickup including an optical module to emit a light beam; and a front photo-detector to monitor power of the light beam; wherein the optical module is coupled to the front photo-detector so that a fixed distance is maintained between the optical module and the front photo-detector.